- 1 Clock (on tower outside) was ordered by the South Australian Commissioners in 1836 and was the first town clock in Adelaide—rebuilt in 1987.
- 2 List of clergy.
- 3 Visitors book. You may like to record your visit.
- 4 Marble tablets on back wall. Previously above the Holy Table. They state the basic tenets of Christian faith: Lord's Prayer, Ten Commandments, Apostles' Creed.
- 5 Baptismal font. A gift from Lady Augusta Young, wife of the Governor 1848–1853.
- 6 Propeller above side door. Given in 1945 by RAAF in recognition of Rev. R. Fulford's service as a wartime chaplain.
- 7 Pew name plates designed to hold the cards of pew renters. Now used to hold selected Bible texts.
- 8 Various memorial tablets in memory of people associated with Trinity Church Adelaide.
- 9 Organ console.
- 10 Centenary window. See the back of this brochure for an explanation of the illustration.
- 11 Pulpit. Donated by the 1888 architect, E.J. Woods.
- 12 Memorial organ (1958). In memory of Pascoe Grenfell, the donor of the church site.
- 13 Vestry. Items of interest in this room:
 - Pioneer window which was included in the pre-fabricated timber church shipped on the HMS Buffalo.
 - Bible and prayer books used by Rev. C.B. Howard on board the HMS Buffalo.
 - Photocopies of early records.
 - Early marriage register.
 - Print of the original church.
 - Photos of rectors.
 - Outside the vestry is C.B. Howard's headstone.

Centenary window

This stained glass window commemorates the first 100 years of gatherings at Trinity Church. The theme is the preaching of the good news about Jesus.

The left panel shows Philip explaining the gospel, through the book of Isaiah, to the Ethiopian eunuch.

The central panel shows Christians going forth into the world proclaiming the good news of Jesus.

The right panel shows Paul proclaiming the gospel in Athens.

At the top is the risen Lord Jesus reigning over all.

A brief history of the building

Trinity Church Adelaide is closely associated with the early history of South Australia.

The Rev. Charles Howard, first Colonial Chaplain, travelled to South Australia on the HMS Buffalo and commenced duties as the first Anglican minister in 1836. He brought a prefabricated church building funded by the South Australian Church Society, but it was useless. He had to use temporary facilities for some time.

The Society also received the right to a Town Acre from Mr. Grenfell. The Trustees they appointed arranged for Col. William Light, the colony's Surveyor General, to choose the location for the church building. Acre No.9 was near the main river crossing and beside the main road to the Port.

The foundation stone of the permanent building was laid by Cap. John Hindmarsh, South Australia's first governor, on January 26th, 1838. The building was rebuilt in 1845 and significantly extended in 1888–1889, when it was transformed to its existing Victorian Gothic style.

Pointed windows were installed, a pitched roof with fine timber trusses replaced the original flat roof, supported by masonry buttresses and higher walls, while the tower was extended to its present height. Twentieth century additions include galleries, the organ loft, and extra vestry space.

The site also includes a rectory (1851, now offices), a parish hall (1887), a smaller hall, offices, crèche, cottage (now meeting rooms) and a large car park.

The church building and the rectory are listed in the South Australian Heritage Register.

Trinity Church Adelaide

We are a community of people keen to love, serve and share about Jesus.

We believe in a God who speaks to us through his word, so getting to know Jesus through the Bible is central to everything we do.

We celebrate all that God has done for us, and we long that others would know him too.

If you would like to know more, why not come along to one of our gatherings on Sunday? We'd love to welcome you!

TRINITY NETWORK

Trinity Network

In 2001, Trinity Church Adelaide planted its first church in Aldgate. Since then God has graciously gone before us and enabled more churches to be planted in Brighton, Modbury, Mount Barker, Colonel Light Gardens, Victor Harbor, Golden Grove and Unley.

The Trinity Network was formed with a vision to plant many churches and ministries around Adelaide and South Australia for the glory of God.

If you would like more information about the Trinity Network or the churches within the Network, please visit www.trinity.network.
